In case you're buying one, consider the projector that matches your needs, whether that'd be for personal or professional use. A portable projector is one of the best things you can have. You can make movie night with friends more fun or present your work presentations on the go. What lumens do I need for a projector? A projector with 1500 lumens should suffice. If you're projecting in small or mid-sized rooms, a projector with a minimum of 2500 lumens works the best. The bigger the room, the higher the lumens you will need. What features should I look for when buying a movie projector for iPhones? Consider the display size and throw distance. Also, it's best to consider the areas where you would use your projector. Projectors usually work best at pitch-black places.
